

HUGHES DECRIES GRAB FOR POWER

Says Craving for Control More Apparent Than Devotion to Liberty.

WELLESLEY, Mass., June 15.—Charles E. Hughes, in an address at the Wellesley college commencement exercises here, cautioned his hearers that in an appreciation of the difficulties which have accompanied after the war "we must avoid a distorted view and we must not fail to recognize that the great heart of the nation has not changed in a few months." His subject was "The Patriotism of Peace."

He contrasted the united efforts of war time with "the absence of a compelling motive" and "the rush of conflicting interests" that have followed.

"Unless we have peace time," he said, "that dominant sentiment which prompts a continuous and self-sacrificing devotion to public ends, the sacrifices of patriotism in war will have been in vain. Our national ideals are neither imperialistic nor racial. They transcend all ordinary national aims. They are not bound up in anything short of establishing and maintaining constitutional government as the sure basis of liberty."

"It is a spurious patriotism that is linked to the triumph of any creed or class, or becomes the vehicle of bigotry. The common good rooted in the essential institutions of justice and individual liberty—that is the national ideal."

"We have talked so much of free institutions that we are apt to think that in this country they will take care of themselves. Our recent and current experiences should disabuse us of this notion. We have too many evidences of a readiness to take advantage of opportunity to establish autocratic administration. The ease with which abuses have arisen and have been condoned should give us more anxiety than the utterances which easily defeat themselves. The tendency to crave and assert arbitrary power, to use either economic or political power ruthlessly is more apparent with us than devotion to the cause of liberty."

"It is in the orderly processes of constitutional government that we find the security of liberty. Whoever seeks to subvert these orderly processes is the enemy against whom at once the entire power of organized society should be directed."

"There is, however, a great difference between protecting the orderly processes of government and the attempt to repress political opinion with which we do not agree. It is precisely because liberty must have its institutions, because liberty can only continue through organizations and government upon the basis of accepted principles, that the institutions of liberty are hopelessly defective and inadequate if they do not provide the means for the adaptations which each generation must have to guarantee its freedom."

"The true method is to trust the truth and find the remedy. Does a grievance exist? If it does not, then show that it does not. If it is exaggerated, limit it to its proper degree. If it exists, search for the remedy. If a remedy is proposed, expose it. If the remedy proposed is worse than the grievance, demonstrate it."

"The motto for democracy must be 'educate, educate, educate.' You can find no other security than the intelligence and conscience of the people. But you can not at once educate and stifle opinion. The policy of denying free expression of political opinions is death to the republic, for that expression is its vital force."

"The practice of putting large discretionary powers at the disposal of officers needs a curb. The patriot in peace demands government upon established principles, and he should always be ready to contest officialism and bureaucracy, with its readiness to suppress individual freedom by capricious administrative action and to install in departments of a supposed free government what is nothing short of a reign of terror."

Time-Tested

Broken parts of metal which we welded many months ago are still in first-class working condition. In many cases they have outlasted the life of the machine of which they were a part.

What test is more convincing than the rigid test of time—the test of super-rigidity? For a broken part there is only one remedy, and for real service only one welding plant.

FRENCH SEE HARDING AS MACHINE TRIUMPH

Satisfied With Elimination of Johnson, Says Journal.

PARIS, June 15.—Few newspapers in this city venture to comment on the action of the Republican national convention at Chicago, although all devote considerable space to the nomination.

"It is a triumph of the machine of the party organization, or its bosses, over personalities sufficiently powerful in a position to appeal directly to the nation," declares Le Petit, political editor of the Echo de Paris.

In examining the platform of the Republican party, Le Petit pays special attention to the possible re-nomination of the Panama controversy and the Canadian and pulp question. This posture relative to England and Canada, he finds to be a certain extent symptomatic, but he adds:

"We need not fear that such an attitude will engender into abatement from European affairs or hostility toward Europe. Too many elements of the Republican party are bound up in our affairs and our preoccupations. The alliance observed regarding Ireland shows the desire felt at Chicago to keep on good terms with England."

St. Brice, in the Journal, thinks the nomination was a triumph of party discipline.

"The organizers had to give between two rocks a battle between persons and a clash of policies. They maneuvered and maneuvered skillfully."

"Mr. Harding is a champion of the international political point of view, which arouses the American sentiment against the Versailles treaty," says the Journal. "But all Frenchmen are greatly satisfied with the nomination of Hiram Johnson, whose heart and spirit have never been greatly in favor of France. Mr. Harding is of a type made up of uprightness and kindness and work. He deserves our respect and our generous sympathy."

The newspaper comments on the fact that Mr. Harding is an intimate friend of Mr. Wilson. Mr. Harding is of a type made up of uprightness and kindness and work. He deserves our respect and our generous sympathy."

GERMAN SOCIALISTS BLOCK CABINET PLAN

Radicals Refuse to Enter Coalition With People's Party.

BERLIN, June 15.—Leaders of the majority socialist party have notified Herr Heine, the moderate conservative chief, who is trying to form a cabinet, of their refusal to enter a coalition government in which the German people's party was represented.

Herr Heine, according to one report, then abandoned further negotiations.

Another report, however, says Herr Heine will confer with bourgeois party leaders in an attempt to form a coalition government made up of clericals, democrats and members of the German people's party, which would command 199 votes against 190 held by the two socialist factions.

The action of the majority socialists is said to have been unanimous, the party's governing board and newly elected deputies in the reichstag participating in the conference.

PROTECTION IN OIL INDUSTRY PROMISED

MEXICO CITY, June 15.—Gen. Jacinto B. Trevino, minister of commerce and industry in the cabinet formed by Adolfo de la Huerta, the provisional president, in a statement defining his official attitude toward the petroleum industry, said it would be "one of pure nationalism based on definite national interest and giving protection also to legitimately created foreign interests without distinction as to nationality."

He added that he would ask the same counsel of all interested persons regarding his policy.

The petroleum industry, Gen. Trevino said, is being steadily developed and there has been no complaint from the oil companies as to the conduct of the recent revolution.

He said 1,000 oil wells already had been drilled or were projected up to the present time, and there are now 298 productive wells.

BODIES OF BLAINE AND HIS WIDOW ARE MOVED

AUGUSTA, Me., June 15.—The bodies of James G. Blaine and his wife, Harriet Starwood Blaine, brought here from Washington under the auspices of the state of Maine, were buried in Forest Grove cemetery yesterday.

The legislature at its last session, in accepting the Blaine home in this city as an executive mansion in memory of the statesman, who was killed at St. Michel, made provision for the removal of the body from Rock Creek cemetery, Washington.

The committal service was conducted by Dr. James H. Enoch, pastor of the South Parish Congregational church of Augusta, who was Mr. Blaine's pastor. Members of James Fitzgerald post, American Legion, served as the active bearers.

50,000 REDS AT BAKU

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 15.—Soviet forces at Baku number 50,000, and are commanded by Gen. Alexieff, according to reports received here. A Sebastopol dispatch said the Bolsheviks have killed Gen. Roudneff at Baku. Soviet workers are carrying on an intense propaganda campaign for a revolt in Georgia. It is asserted in dispatches.
